

2025 Benchmark Report

The State of Legacy eLearning Modernization in Finance & Banking

Executive Summary

Nearly 70% of financial institutions still rely on outdated SCORM-based training for critical topics like AML, Fraud Prevention, Data Privacy, and Financial Crime Compliance. This legacy approach creates hidden compliance risks, engagement challenges, and scalability limitations for global teams.

This report explores how forward-thinking banks, insurers, and financial services organizations are using AI to modernize legacy training, reduce update costs, and improve compliance readiness.

Key Findings

- 68% of financial organizations have SCORM training libraries over 5 years old
- 52% struggle to keep training aligned with changing regulatory requirements
- AI-powered modernization reduces update time and costs by up to 60%
- Engagement improves by 50–70% after modernization
- Global rollout readiness is achieved faster with AI localization tools

Why Modernization is Urgent for Finance

- Rapidly evolving global regulations (AML, GDPR, Financial Crime Compliance)
- Increasing expectations for mobile-friendly, on-demand training
- Growing accessibility and inclusivity mandates
- Demand for localized content across global teams
- Heightened regulatory scrutiny and audit pressures

How AI Transforms Legacy Financial Training

AI tools automate the extraction, restructuring, and localization of outdated SCORM content, enabling faster modernization at lower cost:

- ✓ 60% faster content updates for regulatory training
- ✓ Global localization in 60+ languages
- ✓ Conversion from SCORM to xAPI for advanced compliance analytics
- ✓ Audit-friendly, accessible, and mobile-ready training outputs

Next Steps for Financial L&D Leaders

- Audit legacy compliance training libraries to identify high-risk content
- Run pilot modernization projects to validate AI-driven efficiencies
- Partner with specialists to scale AI-powered modernization across business units
- Ensure all updated training meets accessibility, localization, and regulatory standards

Discover how to modernize your legacy financial training with AI — faster, more affordably, and fully audit-ready.
